CODE OF CONDUCT

SANFORD HEALTH
BUILT ON TRUST

Every day, thousands of people place their trust in Sanford Health. That trust carries great responsibility to act ethically and hold ourselves to the highest standards in all we do. We use our Code of Conduct to protect that trust by defining the responsibilities we have to those we serve and each other. Whatever your role, wherever your place, it is your commitment to act with integrity that allows us to fulfill our promise to improve the human condition.

“Sanford Health plays a vital role in all our communities by providing care and services for every stage of life. The privilege of caring for patients, residents and health plan members and supporting our communities comes with a responsibility to uphold the highest standards of honesty, integrity and transparency. I am proud to work alongside 50,000 members of the Sanford Family who are all committed to doing right by those we serve.”

Deciding the best option for yourself

Every decision you make has an impact: for those we serve, you and our organization. Sometimes we face difficult situations, and the right decision may seem unclear. In that moment our integrity and honesty matter most.

If you are ever in a situation where the right or ethical action is unclear, consider the following:

- Is it legal?
- Does it align with our mission, vision and values?
- Does it follow our policies?
- Is it good for our organization?
- Would I feel comfortable with my decision if it were made public?

If the answer is “No,” then stop, reconsider your decision or voice your concern.
